“Promoting the Culture of Safety”

June 24, 2010

Hilton Hotel, Concord

McCarthy Building Companies,
Cal/VPP since 2003

Excerpt from company website:

Safety is the most important thing we do each day. Simply put, our number one priority every day, year after year, is to ensure that our employees and team members return home safely to their loved ones each night.

It's partly because we're an employee-owned company where family is a key ingredient – and a company where employees are viewed as our greatest and most valuable asset. But more importantly, we emphasize safety, because simply, it's the right thing to do. All of which means that at McCarthy, we've made the quest for a zero injury work environment not just a priority, but instead a core tenet of our company.

Representing McCarthy Building Companies is Nick Cloud, Northern Pacific safety director

Swinerton Builders,
Cal/VPP since 2003

Excerpt from company website:

Safety is a preeminent focus throughout the company, originating in the chairman's office, embraced by all of the employees and extending to each and every job site.

Representing Swinerton Builders is Wade Obermann, corporate safety director

Nibbi Bros. Associates, Inc.,
Cal/VPP since 2009

Excerpt from company website:

A safe project is a successful project and as such, Nibbi goes through great lengths to ensure that the highest level of safety is practiced on its jobsites. Excellence in safety and meeting production goals are not opposing forces or mutually exclusive goals and by integrating safety into the framework of how we do work, it is almost always a win-win scenario.

Nibbi's safety efforts include an aggressive training program, building relationships with owners, subcontractors, trade unions, etc. We strive to create a culture where workers value safety and take personal responsibility for their safety and the safety of others.

Representing Nibbi Bros. Associates, Inc. is Dr. Kendon Dressel, director of environmental health and safety
